A: If you are facing this issue while using the Oracle Wallet it might be an issue with your environment. You can try either of the following solutions : If you are using the Oracle Wallet try to import the same wallet in a new environment. Try to set up a node without using wallet and work on it. The surgical treatment of rectal prolapse and intussusception. Between 1968 and 1980, 775 patients underwent surgery for rectal prolapse. The series consisted of 292 females and 483 males, aged between 17 and 94 years. In 191 patients the prolapse was combined with intussusception. In 53 patients the prolapse was associated with incontinence. In 81 cases the prolapse was combined with an external rectal prolapse. In 124 patients the prolapse was associated with a perineal sinus. The anal canal was preserved in 100 of the patients, and two of these patients had a recto-vaginal fistula. There was no mortality. Twenty-four patients had early postoperative complications. Fifteen had wound dehiscence, eight had wound infection, three had pain in the first 6 weeks and one had obstruction of the defecation. In 26 patients the prolapse recurred. The recurrence rate was 8.7% for the entire series. This was highest in the patients with a perineal sinus (17.2%). Of the patients with a perineal sinus, 33% had a recurrence, while the rate was 7.8% in the other patients. In the patients with a perineal sinus who had surgery
