(Credit: Thinkstock) 9 of 10 Happy New Year The end of the year is an excellent time to make sure your money-raising efforts are working for you. There's no better way to ring in the New Year than with the prospect of making a donation that will help your charitable cause. 10 of 10 Think about which cause you want to support. It could be any number of different organisations or even one specific charity. Decide how much you want to give. You could give a fixed amount or you could set a fundraising goal. You might also want to set a fundraising target for the year. Think about how you will raise the money. It could be by asking for donations, by selling things, by asking your friends and family to contribute or by working on your own fundraising page. Think about who you will ask to contribute. It could be by asking for donations, by selling things, by asking your friends and family to contribute or by working on your own fundraising page. Think about what you will do with the money. You could give it to your favourite charity, set it aside to pay off a debt or use it to pay for something you want or need. You could also make a small donation to a local charity or service that you really care about. Think about whether you will be giving this money to a group or an individual. A small donation could be a huge help to a large organisation. An individual or group will always appreciate receiving a gift, even if it's not much. A small donation will be more appreciated than a large one. A small donation will be more appreciated than
