How NOT To Find Your RMSD One of the most frequently used and easily forgotten tools in computational chemistry is the Root-Mean-Square Deviation. It is a single value that you can determine to give you an idea of how similar are the conformations of two molecules. In fact, you can calculate it using CHelp. First, take two molecules and calculate the root-mean-square deviation (RMSD) between them using the function rms. It will return the RMSD value in Angstroms, 1d6a3396d6

Two new compilations of old King Crimson songs, both featuring Steve Morse on lead vocals, have been released in Japan. The album King Crimson – A Corrosion Of Conformity consists of singles and album tracks and was released in Japan in 2011 as part of King Crimson's 40th Anniversary. It features new liner notes by members of the band with an introduction by Greg Lake. Morse recorded 'Larks' Tongues In Aspic' for the album back in 2011 and 'Red' for the live album The Night Michael Jordan Play At Half-Time, which was released in 2013. Both songs feature on the album.

WASHINGTON (Reuters) - The U.S. Federal Communications Commission's online Public Notice system received another software upgrade, this time to move from a Soviet-era database to a modern American one, the agency said on Tuesday. The FCC, an independent U.S. regulatory body, oversees the National Telecommunications and Information Administration, the Commerce Department bureau that runs its online Public Notice site. The change, which includes updating the database to reflect new commission rules on the public's use of social media, will go into effect on Thursday, according to an FCC spokeswoman. When the notice is posted, the agency will automatically generate a link for the public to share on their preferred social media site. While the underlying database used to run the site is new, the FCC said, the old system allowed for the posting of content to the online notice, making it nearly impossible to automatically generate that functionality. "This new system is a major improvement to the Public Notice system and is the culmination of many months of effort and planning by many people from the Office of Public Notice," FCC spokeswoman Laura Quinn said in an email. "We believe the new system will provide a much improved user experience and more functions," she said.

The present invention relates to a new and distinctive soybean variety, designated XB44W09 which has been the result of years of careful breeding and selection as part of a soybean breeding program. There are numerous steps in the development of any novel, desirable plant germplasm. Plant breeding begins with the analysis and definition of problems and weaknesses of the current germplasm, the establishment of program goals, and the definition of specific breeding objectives. The next step is selection of germplasm that possess the traits to meet the program goals. The goal is to combine in a single variety an improved combination of desirable traits from the parental germplasm. These important traits may include but are not limited to higher seed yield, resistance to diseases and insects, tolerance to drought and heat, and better agronomic qualities. These processes, which lead to the final step of marketing and distribution, can take from six to twelve years from the time the first cross is made. Therefore, development of new varieties is a time-consuming process that requires precise forward planning, efficient use of resources, and a minimum of changes in direction. Soybean (Glycine max), is an important and valuable field crop. Thus, a continuing goal of soybean breeders is to develop stable, high yielding soybean varieties that are agronomically sound. The reasons for this goal are to maximize the amount of grain produced on the land used and to supply food for both animals and humans. To accomplish this goal, the soybean breeder must select and develop soybean plants that have the traits that result in superior varieties. Pioneer soybean research staff create over 500,000 potential new
