Text-to-Speech Tool WebTrance is an intuitive application that facilitates text translation between English, Bulgarian, French, Spanish, German, Turkish and Italian. It is very simple to work with, even if your experience with language translation software is limited. The interface does not stand out in the visual department but it is very intuitive. In the first text box you can input the text you want to translate, and select the output language from a drop-down menu. You can also choose the filter between plain text, SRT and SUB DivX subtitles. Opening the context menu offers the option to copy, cut and paste text, use a text-to-speech tool, search through the dictionary database, as well as add new words. The translated words can be saved to RTF format for further scrutiny. WebTrance can be set to minimize to the system tray area. In addition, you can alter the maximum number of active fragments, adjust the translation complexity, as well as change the layout mode (horizontal or vertical). The application has a good response time and runs on a very low amount of CPU and RAM, so it does not burden overall performance. We have not come across any issues throughout our evaluation, since the app did not freeze, crash or show errors. Unfortunately, the pricing is not justified, seeing how Google Translate offers the same service for free. This tool does not include extraordinary features. On top of that, a third-party application that's not essential for WebTrance to work properly is automatically installed, and you cannot opt it out.
