You don't need to have started a family or even have children to have a happy life. We get asked by many of our patients "why is it so important to have kids?" They say this because the cancer has changed their lives and they're very concerned about what will happen to them when they're old. While having children is important to the meaning of life, your life has plenty of meaning with or without children. About ART Knowing that we do not have an exact definition of life, one that would be common to all cultures and institutions, but that is life nonetheless,
