The Football Association's anointed best player the world has ever seen has once again been forced to contemplate the prospect of the unthinkable - a lack of form. Two weeks ago it was a succession of impressive displays which had fans clamouring for their views on Vincent Kompany's future. Now comes the conundrum: a Manchester City defender who has been nothing short of outstanding, who has never been accused of being a flop and who knows that he will never again play alongside another World Cup winner of similar stature? It is a conundrum that has arisen for the first time since he dropped down the pecking order at the start of this season to become the No 3 centre-back in the City team. Kompany has been in sparkling form since the turn of the year and has hardly missed a minute. But he is again pushing for a recall to the South Africa squad, having returned home early from the world champions' tour of the United States and Mexico. His influence is pervasive and City have conceded only 14 goals - none of them in the last two months - and played five games without conceding at all. Yet that has not been enough to make the difference on the pitch, although he has managed the improbable feat of providing seven assists so far. It is a subject that has been thoroughly debated among City fans on various internet forums, where they have been subjected to some hair-raising speculation and plenty of paranoia, and it was only yesterday, in fact, that they were told by a City official that Kompany is still their second-choice centre-back. The official was quoted by the BBC as saying: "The obvious thing is that in these games we have played, we have not been beaten. "To be honest, our defence is one of our strengths. We're playing the way we want to play. [Luciano] Becchio is playing his first season, 15 brand-new icons created especially for this collection, including a number of "classics" and a lot of small modifications of some existing icons. Icons come in a PNG format. Features: 15 brand-new icons A lot of small modifications of some icons The original idea of this pack was to make movie icons that are reminiscent of different famous classic movies. However, we decided to include a number of current and classic movies for it to be a really complete set. As a result, the pack contains all kind of movie icons — like romantic movies (tears of Helen, For Whom the Bell Tolls), Sci-Fi movies (the film Blade Runner, Die Hard), action movies (Spaceballs, Soldier of Fortune, Terminator 2), animated movies (Toy Story), horror movies (A Nightmare on Elm Street), kinky movies (Wishmaster, Thunderdome), music-videos (The Beatles — White Album, Bohemian Rhapsody, Alice in Wonderland, etc.), documentaries (La Vie en Rose, The Eyes of Tammy Faye), etc. If you check the icons from other packs, the only ones that can be compared to the ones in the pack are the bottles and the cameras. Apart from that, there is a lot of small modifications of some icons. Hence, the pack could be of interest not only for fans of film and movies, but also for some "regular" users that wish to have unique icons on their desktop. Moreover, this icon set is not only for the Mac, as it also includes the set for Windows and Linux. Nevertheless, there are quite a few icons that don't fit the requirements. They are shown with the grey background and a "Not compatible with Mac" notice. You can think of the icons as a sort of "tribute" to some iconic movie icons. Some are extracted from the classic movie posters, some — from movies that were recently released. Nevertheless, you should keep in mind that icons that are labelled as "Not compatible with Mac" probably are not. Nevertheless, you might try to replace the regular icons with the ones from the pack. The icon pack is rather small in size. It only contains 63 icons. Hence, it can be installed in any amount of icons folders. As a matter of fact, a user of 14 GB storage space can use it without any problems. Even though the icons
